

ASSOCIATION OF REPTILIAN AND AMPHIBIAN VETERINARIANS

AND THE

ASSOCIATION OF EXOTIC MAMMAL VETERINARIANS

20TH ANNUAL ARAV CONFERENCE 12TH ANNUAL AEMV CONFERENCE

September 14-19, 2013
Sheraton Indianapolis City Center
Indianapolis, Indiana, USA

CALL FOR TITLES

The ARAV and the AEMV invite submissions of titles for their joint Annual Conference. Proposals on all aspects of reptilian, amphibian, and exotic mammal medicine are welcome. These include results of original research, case reports, clinical studies, and review articles. Clinicians are particularly invited to submit papers for an “In My Experience” session.

SUBMISSION PROCESS

Proposals must be submitted online through the joint ARAV/AEMV submission site (<http://precis2.preciscentral.com/Link.aspx?ID=BF1EC7AFC0BCD3AB>). The link for the site can also be found at the ARAV website (www.arav.org) and the AEMV website (aemv.org). Please send a title, a short description, your preference for delivering an oral or poster presentation, and contact information for the primary author by March 1, 2013. All proposals should be submitted as word documents.

All presentations will be reviewed by a scientific committee. Authors will be informed whether their presentation has been accepted by April 2, 2013. Full abstracts will then be invited for submission online. Final submissions will be due by May 1, 2013.

All abstracts must be in English

Proposals should be limited to 3-5 sentences

More information online at <http://www.arav.org>

For questions please contact:

Rachel Marschang, the ARAV Scientific Program Coordinator at

rachel.marschang@googlemail.com or

Joerg Mayer, the AEMV Scientific Program Coordinator at mayerj@uga.edu